

Dr. Ajay Kr. Singh as I Know Him and His Divine Instrument

Intro:

I on principle never consult any fortune tellers. While organizing a training program for project Managers I came across Prof Dr. Singh and during discussion he asked to put some questions holding one instrument. I reluctantly asked about success of the course and remained busy with training program but I overheard certain conversation and amazed to put few questions. One was about the duration of return journey. Dr. Singh after consulting the Instrument predicted Y hrs. I was taken aback for a journey of 1:15 hrs how could it be so long. But to my surprise it took exactly 3 hrs. which developed some faith on Dr. Singh's method and you may read rest from the full statement below:

Full Statement

Sometime in the month of July 2008, while reviewing the performance of the seismic department; it was felt that the senior managers lack managerial qualities. Most of the Project Managers and Party Managers were not exposed to modern management techniques, as most were promoted to the Sr. managerial cadre to fill up the new created positions to meet the requirement of client. Seismic operation is seasonal job; the work season is from November to June and off season is from July to October. Hence it was decided to impart training to the newly promoted managers in project Management techniques.

Though there is a training wing which is headed by a competent person with long outstanding experience, the onus of designing the course etc was entrusted on me, by the CEO. I, with the help of one other executive of the company tried to design a comprehensive Project Management Program in line with PMI curriculum. Initially it was decided to conduct the entire course by in house faculty, but due to our pre occupation of CEO and myself it was decided to partially outsource the training program. Mr. Gaurav Jamb who was assisting me was entrusted to locate one such Institute with the help of

Mr. Onkar Mall the training head. He came across one Mr. Aditya Tripathy who suggested that Dr. Ajay Singh used to conduct such training programs from DPSR. Dr. Ajay Singh, Director DPSR was invited to discuss the training program, Dr. Ajay Singh along with three of colleagues gave us a visit and we had a thorough discussion. The need of training and course content was discussed and almost decided pending our visit to their institute.

Gaurav and I visited the institute at Rohini along with Mr. Tripathy on 14th of August. It was raining profusely that day, the journey in normal condition takes around 1.5 hrs at the maximum but it took more than 2.5 hrs. We had planned to reach there by 4 PM but could only manage to reach there at 5-30 PM.

Dr. Singh along with some of his other colleagues received us and after greetings we visited the college, class rooms, Computer labs etc. In the Director's room we had a detailed discussion about the modules of training program. I was busy in discussing the program in detail with another colleague of Dr. Singh. In the mean time Dr. Singh brought an instrument which he called as Divine Instrument, which afterwards I nick named as ANTENNA, and asked me to hold an aluminum cylindrical (1.5 cm high and 7-8 cm dia.) thing having holes and connected to the antenna with an electrical cable and put some question. Dr. Singh explained that through that antenna he could predict about future events, however this antenna can only indicate affirmative or negative (yes or no). The antenna is like letter T. Dr. Singh held two arms of the T in both his hands loosely and explained that the central arm would change its position as per the answer of the question. If the answer is affirmative it would tilt down wards or otherwise remain as it was. Since I generally do not believe in such things, I did not show much interest but held the cylinder and asked how would be the course. The Answer was affirmative.

I continued my discussion with the other colleague of Dr. Singh about the upcoming training program and the subjects to be covered in the training. In the mean time Dr. Singh was discussing with Gaurav and they had a question answer session with the antenna. Gaurav's father was ill. They were discussing those. Gaurav was not talking much but Dr. Singh was doing most of the talking. I overheard that Dr. Singh telling Gaurav that his father was suffering from some disease and he could be cured with certain type of treatment((I did not remember the name of the disease and treatment method). He had diagnosed the disease of Gaurav' father and even suggested remedy through the antenna. I only overheard the last sentence.

My wife was suffering since December 2nd 2007 from Slip disc (herniation of spinal cord) and was bedridden for 4 months; she came to Delhi only in May 2008 and continuing with Homeopathic medicine and undergoing treatment with a physiotherapist.

I told Dr. Singh that my wife is sick and I want to ask him about her recovery. He prevented me to tell the disease name and again gave me the cylinder to hold. This time I hold the same seriously. He went on pronouncing name of various body parts to know which part is affected by the disease or having problem, the antenna remained firm with almost all the major organs, it showed some movement when back was pronounced but when he took the name of spinal cord it became horizontal indicating that spinal cord had problem. It was amazing. As a science student I was trying to find out what could be the reason of this type of prediction. I thought there may be generation of small emf which might be the cause of movement of the free arm of the Antenna. The body emf might be changing with thought process the emf might be changing listening to the correct answer moving the arm. But that could not be the correct answer and Dr. Singh also could not confirm how the antenna functions.

After knowing the disease the curative treatment should be known, hence Dr Singh put told different treatment methods. The position of Antenna remained unchanged for allopathic, Homeopathic, Ayurvedic, etc., method of treatment. Then he put another name which was not very familiar rather the name was new to me. It was for the 1st time I was listening that name. The name of treatment is Cranio Sacral Therapy. The treatment method was new to me, hence question of knowing the treatment method does not arise. He himself tried to know number of seating required for the treatment, it came to be around 21 times. He could not explain the reason for such long treatment schedule. On my query where the treatment would be available, he told some three to four places in Delhi and also told that his wife Dr. Mukul Singh also gives this treatment. Dr. Mukul Singh is a senior doctor working with Safdarjung hospital. I immediately asked him to fix an appointment with her and I like to attend her on 17th August 2008.

Then I enquired about my friend Janmejaya's illness. He was suffering from diabetics for last 26 years and also having renal problem. He diagnosed correctly and advised for homeopathic treatment.

The rain was continuing we were waiting it to stop but the intensity increased and we were getting delayed. Gaurav had to go to his native place and I had to return to NOIDA alone. I told it was already late (8=00 PM) the traffic would be thin and we would take maximum 1.5 hrs or so. But Dr. Singh verified through the Antenna and told that it would take 3 hours or so. Gaurav's home is 5 to 6 hours journey but Dr. Singh predicted that it would take around 8 hrs. I could not agree with him thinking that how could it take so many hours in the late hours. We proceeded nicely and for initial 20 minutes I was hopeful that it could take only 1.5 hrs. We came through the Ring road thinking it would have less traffic, but to my surprise I found that the traffic was too heavy and vehicles were almost standstill for long time. I was observing time for initial 1.5 hrs, but forgot to that and to my surprise it took exactly 3 hrs. for the journey.

Gaurav also reached his home around 4-30 AM (>8 hrs journey).

Next day I confirmed about my 17th August visit with Dr. Singh. Till that period I was not driving in Delhi, on 17th August I drove and I did not face any difficulty locating his residence. After preliminaries, Dr. Mukul Singh started treatment of my wife which took around 45 minutes. They explained that some negative forces are affecting the treatment. We returned happily and my wife was feeling good, her pain reduced to a greater extent. She had asked personal questions about relations and explained that her problem is more of emotional than physical, She thinks other relatives problem on which she does not have any control and could not do any help too.

The treatment continued for 4 to 5 weeks. When my used to take treatment Dr. Singh and I discuss about Antenna but know concrete reason could be established by me about the working of the Antenna. My wife's condition changed to a greater extent. She remained painless for 1st 3 to 4 days after receiving the treatment. This point was also discussed. Dr. Singh explained that these were due to negative energy etc and gave some distant healing from time to time. He asked for the photograph of the house, entrance of the house and bed room lay out, I showed him the photos and described that negative energy were in the residence and give some healing for the same. After 4 sessions Dr. Singh explained that he was surprised that the treatment continued for more than 4 weeks, generally people gets cured with 3 to 4 sessions. Then he narrated how he was surprised in the Ist day when Antenna predicted that it would take around 20 weeks for the treatment.

I used to travel a lot due to official assignment, but the treatment continued almost up to 17 to 18 sittings but as the travelling was tiresome and my wife almost recovered we stopped the treatment. But we developed a good rapport with Dr. Singh and Mrs. Singh. We visited them often discuss other things during our visits. Though formal treatment stopped after 18 sittings (not 21 sittings as recommended) she recovered but not fully and I hope due our other visits we might have taken more than 3 to four sittings.

In the due course I asked him certain queries about some business opportunities for our Company and found his views, on receiving communication/confirmations, happened though initially it was not looking perspective. One such example is about bidding for 5MW Solar PV Power plant, for which we were short listed. He advised that our bidding is not going to successful and we should not quote for less than Rs.15/Unit. He also pronounced that the lowest rate would be less than Rs.11/Unit. His son who was observing all this told why should they bid when they knew that the would be successful. Dr. Singh replied that bidding less than Rs. 15/ unit would be losing preposition for them hence they should not bid. I did not disclose this to anyone. We had to take the final decision next day and I did not like to influence others with the prophecy of Dr. Singh. We deliberated on the rate issue for a long time but decided that we should not bid for that project. Our JMD told that he had discussed with other bidders and gathered that the rate would come around Rs.11/Unit. The bidding process was completed and it was found that the lowest rate is Rs. 10.57/Unit.

During some other occasion we were discussing about educational development and the role of DPSR, Dr. Singh explained that he was going to have one university at Korba in Chhatishgarh. Korba is an Industrial town but not a developed one. Since I belong to Odisha I asked him to set up one such university in Odisha particularly in the central Odisha as Bhubaneswar and coastal Odisha is full rather overburden with professional educational institutions (both technical and management). He again consulted the antenna and asked me to suggest some names. I suggested Angul as the name as it is central place, similar to Korba and lot of major industries are coming in and around Angul, it did not have any standard institution to its credit. He found from the antenna that Angul is the best sight. During the course I just casually informed that the ED of NALCO is bosom friend of mine and we can get some initial help from him and told that NALCO has a good school under the banner of DPS. He verified and found through the Antenna that the school has some problem and needs attention and he had to meet the principal. I did not take that seriously, but told them to concentrate on the university issue and we can visit the area to sea site for the university in the earliest opportunity. I used to visit Odisha frequently for official purpose and one such visit was in last week of November and 1st week of December 2010 and I had to attend a marriage at NALCO, Angul. I explained my program to him and asked him to join me at Bhubaneswar 1st December so that we can go to Angul accordingly Dr. Singh reached Bhubaneswar and he was eager to go to NALCO on the same day but I was trying to arrange some meeting with Education minister Odisha, but that did not materialize. Of course Dr. Singh was not that keen to meet the minister he was more interested to meet the ED of NALCO and insisting me to proceed to NALCO that night. I spoke to Pradip (Pradip Ranjan Choudhury, ED NALCO), to my surprise he told that he had some urgent meeting at Bhubaneswar on 2nd and he would come to Bhubaneswar. I told him that we should meet and tried to leave Bhubaneswar early. We only could meet on the NH, 15 KM away from NALCO. I introduced Dr. Singh to Pradip and explained that he conducts training program etc from industries etc. To my surprise Pradip told about the school (Pradip is an excellent manager and human being , besides industrial management he focuses on local development and development of NALCO and gives importance to children's education.) and need of training of the teacher particularly in behavioral area. He contacted the Principal of the school and intimated about Dr. Singh and arranged a meeting at 12-00 noon. He also fixed an appointment with the training head for some training need of NALCO.

It was worth mentioning that neither Dr. Singh nor me never told that Dr. Singh was interested in the school, but Pradip told himself about that. We had a fruitful discussion with Principal of the school and a training program was fixed for the students and teachers in January 2011. The training was successful and I also could find some time to join Dr. Singh with Pradip at residence of Pradip. The influence of Dr. Singh was so effective that another program with the members of Ladies club of NLCAO was also arranged.

My wife faces some peculiar problem and contacts Dr. Singh and gets divine advice and overcomes her problem. Dr. Singh's Prophecy about some business proposal came true and he is ready to give me free advice on other proposals but somehow rather I am not able to take advantage of the situation. This may also be able to well be answered by the antenna. I hope I may request Dr. Singh when I meet next.
